TOBACCO

And Its Real Worth to Humanity as Seen by a Consumer.

The great Hurley Tobacco Society, thanks to the courage, loyalty and heroism of the men in the furrow, led by its chief organizer, Clarence LeBus, and inspired by its priestess and prophetess, Miss Alice Lloyd, who found the tobacco growing in dusty a vassal and helpless mob, and have systematized it into an institution—the shackles have been stricken from child labor in the field, and the faces of the little ones lifted from the ground and turned to the sun in a practical way which a world of theoretical lectures could not have accomplished in a life time.

Brave barons wrestled the Magna Charter of English liberty from the hands of King John—George Washington, after a seven years' war, freed America from British domination. But was ever a greater work accomplished than the work wrought here, or one of more heroic or far-reaching achievement.

"Gather in the golden sheaves!" Instinctively the words of the sacred song arise as the yellow streams come pouring into frown from pools which were the inspiration of God-like men. Slaves to the most villainous combination that ever cursed mankind no longer drag their weary limbs to the public markets begging their master for the poor right to live, but booted and spurred, they ride like kings, bearing aloft the typical product "whose leaves are for the healing of the nation."

This is no sentimental rhapsody.

The late Ex-Governor and United States Senator of North Carolina, Thos. C. Clingman, some years ago published a pamphlet revealing the medical virtues of the tobacco leaf. The writer met Governor Clingman in Washington nearly thirty years ago, where the opportunity and the pleasure of his almost daily association were enhanced by occupying adjoining rooms for several months. Governor Clingman could adorn any subject with his classic speech, to which the listener gave ready ear, especially when he exploited his favorite theme—the Tobacco Plant. I have wondered why the State of Kentucky has never adopted this as her emblem. The various oaks and flowers, with the golden rod and the morning glory have been suggested, but what in royal strength and beauty can surpass the Hurley stalk at that season of the year when the sky is filled with gold and the fields are marching on, from month to month, in long ranks of varying green, purple and saffron, like an army with banners!

For many seasons of Congress, protests and complaints were fervent against the miserable ventilation of the Representative Hall. Even an indifferent student of Cause and Effect could detect that the dose of the members who used tobacco, either smoking or chewing, were more or less exempt from catarrhal, bronchial and other pulmonary ills. Governor Clingman discovered that tobacco was both a preventative and a cure. He held, that a tobacco leaf, dipped in hot water, would relieve pneumonia and tuberculosis if applied over the lungs or other affected organs. In typhoid and scarlet fever also, it was a boon to the sufferer.

As an antiseptic the virtues of tobacco have been recognized for generations in sections where the plant is native to the soil. Instances could be multiplied by the score of its wonderful properties in this regard. Ugly wounds in the foot from rusty nails, which might have resulted in lockjaw, have healed by the first intimation, when bound in leaves of tobacco out of hot water.

Cuts, slashes and bullet wounds have been treated in the same way with no other remedy and with the same results.

A mere layman in cases of cuts and slashes should not presume to say: "Don't send for a doctor," but why should the sufferer die while awaiting the doctor's arrival, or prying soon after in many cases, when unskilled hands can apply the ready relief? How many lives might have been saved from death by lockjaw or hydrophobia if this homely remedy had been used, instead of shipping the patient to Chicago and sometimes the dog's head with him, the writer will not venture to guess. Has it ever been applied to mad-dog bites? It is certainly worth trying as in any event, the remedy is harmless and inexpensive.

What voice then, may join the jubilee of Redemption with more unctious than the Consumer? And what energy has set free a world of vassals and made them free? What of an Empire? Who found women and children toiling in fallow fields for a pitiless tyrant and placed their feet on the uplands of a brighter life? What is more than all others in the Call of Prosperity and Patriotism—"Back to the Farm?"

THE HURLEY TOBACCO SOCIETY.

Liberty Enlightening the World is a noble structure. The statue of Lincoln unloosing the links from Liberia's limbs is another. The prophet's vision discovers through the mists of the future a monument built to this great organization and representing in marble its vast achievements, reaching round how far no eye may see, crowned with the typical statue of The Kentucky Farmer!

"Princes and Lords may perish and may fade;

A breath can make them as a breath hath made,
Hence hold yeomanry, our country's pride,
When once destroyed can never be supplied."

Blackstone in his legal classification of dignities, reverses the line, turning the man-made system bottom upward. The King, the Prince, the Lord, the Duke, forsooth, with the yeoman at the base! God's first creation was the farmer. Into his hands He placed all His gifts, to be passed down to the underlings. Everybody is toiling for the products of the earth and is indirectly a farmer. The lawyer at the bar is threshing wheat; the typewriter is setting out tobacco plants; the merchant is planting potatoes; and the banker is simply housing wheat in his vaults.

"Paul may plant and Apollon may water"—Clarence LeBus may wear out his brave life and spend sleepless nights devising methods; Thos. W. Lawson may "decorate the dead walls of Kentucky" with golden emblems of Victory for the Right—in vain unless the men in the furrow, the strong arm in the field, back up and sustain the men in the front. The great Creator designed but one title, The Farmer! To him He committed the earth and the fullness thereof, and thank God that the real owner is coming to his own at last.

Sons of Italy Here.

While ex-President Roosevelt is being extolled by the sons and daughters of Italy while homeward bound from his Aero hunt, two of Italy's sons were here last Monday making merry with the children, with their hand-organ and monkey, and Roosevelt is still marching home.

FACTORIES ASSURED

For The Flourishing City of Bartlesville, Oklahoma.

The Mountain Advocate has been, for some weeks, carrying a half-page display advertisement of the Bartlesville Townsite Co. That Bartlesville is Oklahoma's coming city, full of life, energy and enterprise, that Bartlesville might well emulate the following from The Morning Examiner, of date, April 5th, 1910, published in Northeastern Oklahoma's metropolis, attests:—

"If you don't believe it, read over the list of committees and the names of members.

"The 25,000 Club is not allowing any grass to grow under its feet and that is certain.

"Another meeting of the organization committee, equally if not more enthusiastic than the one held Wednesday, was called for 11 o'clock this morning, at the offices of the Stevens Point Oil Company to select and appoint the members to serve on the committees decided upon at the last meeting.

"From the invincible array of business and professional men chosen, and the very fact that the people will eventually be heartily co-operating with these men, the most skeptical citizens will be compelled to 'sit up and take notice,' and at least grant that the 25,000 in 1912 movement is not a farce.

"Furthermore, the men selected at the meeting this morning, possess the calibre and timbre, augmented by such untiring energy and stick-to-it-iveness that the future of Bartlesville is a foregone conclusion; and with the impetus given the 25,000 in 1912 Club, by the very best aggregation of Bartlesville business men, it is only necessary for the people of this city to get into the harness, and with a good boost, and a helpful tug, Bartlesville will yet go down in history as the fastest growing and most substantially built city, not only in Oklahoma, but the entire country.

"The following are the names of the men selected to serve on the different committees:—

"Board of Trustees—H. V. Forest, chairman; J. I. Curl, Wm. Johnson, J. P. O'Meara, Judge Shea.

"Membership Committee—Mark Hackett, H. A. Beasley, Hal Moore, F. J. Spies, Jr., John O. Taylor.

"Advertising Committee—Howard Sharpe, J. S. Leach, R. F. Booth.

"Finance Committee—Frank Phillips, M. F. Stillwell, Geo. B. Keeler, A. E. Lewis, H. J. Holm.

"Agricultural Committee—Lon Carpenter, Alf Cunningham, Gideon Morgan, Henry Clay, A. C. Ward.

"Commercial Committee—Frank Breene, Mayor Fred McDaniel, Jas. Masters, Frank Bucher, Jas. Vensky.

"Railroad Committee—G. R. McKinley, O. H. Kirkpatrick, A. E. Cooper.

"Paving Committee—Clint Moore, Dr. H. C. Weber, Dr. Fred Sutton, A. D. Morton.

"Sanitary Committee—Judge Dumeil, Dr. Somerville, Dr. Ray E. Pryor, S. W. Kinsley.

"Public Information Committee—John H. Brennan, J. E. Meloy, J. T. Shipman.

"Labor Committee—George McConnell, Fred Iseli, Wm. Vergo.

"Entertainment Committee—A. W. Baxter, T. B. Reichert, Judge Craver, Lon Fisher, Rev. John Vandenhende.

"Schools and Education Committee—J. F. Treasure, Rev. John A. Dixon, L. A. Rowland, J. L. Overkes, Harry McClintock.

"Parks and Public Amusements Committee—W. H. Johnson, E. C. Carman, H. G. Durnell, Frank Adams, R. S. Bradley, W. H. Barnes, James M. Poynter.

"It was finally decided to hold a barbecue and smoker on the evening of March 30th, at the Coliseum and a large number of prominent speakers were on hand and furnished plenty of entertaining talk for the people, for this barbecue was given for the people.

"A number of out-of-town capitalists were also invited and accepted the invitation and in that manner earned of the excellent more the city is making for the immediate building of a great Bartlesville.

"There are several more committees to be arranged for at another meeting to be held some time later, at which time the entire 'line up' will be published, and with such generals as have been selected, to lead the 25,000 Club of 12,000 members there will certainly be no difficulty in overcoming and vanquishing all obstacles to the securing of good, live industries and giving Bartlesville not 25,000, but 50,000 or more inhabitants in 1912."

New Arrival.

There arrived in the city last Friday morning, a little stranger, who has taken up his abode with Mr. and Mrs. David T. Wilson on College Street and seems so much content in the new brick home into which they had just moved, as they are themselves.

A glance at the beaming countenance of David as he came down town earlier yesterday morning than usual, told the whole story. It not only reflected from his face, but the rapidity with which he walked, convinced all that he had one more to provide for.

The new arrival is a bright faced Republican and as soon as he had been here a sufficient time, will begin to exercise his rights and as his present weight is reported to be 12 pounds, it will only be a short time until he will be mingling with the younger set in our city.

The happy young mother is doing as nicely as possible, while with careful nursing, the proud papa will survive the shock.

The Advocate congratulates the proud parents, and trusts that this bouncing boy may grow into noble manhood and fill the sunset of his parents life with comfort and happiness, such as can only come from a dutiful child.

Points Regarding the Census

The census begins April 15 and must be completed in two weeks in cities and in thirty days in all other areas.

The enumerators will wear a badge inscribed "United States Census, 1910."

The law requires every adult person to furnish the required information, but also provides that it shall be treated confidentially, so that no citizen can come to any person from answering the questions.

The President has issued a proclamation, calling on all citizens to co-operate with the Census and assuring them that it has nothing to do with taxation, army or jury service, compulsory school attendance, regulation of immigration, or enforcement of any law, and that no one can be injured by answering the inquiries.

It is of the utmost importance that the census of population and agriculture in this state be complete and correct.

Therefore every person should promptly, accurately, and completely answer the census questions asked by the enumerators.

Colonel Morris B. Belknap Dead.

In Colonel Morris B. Belknap, who died in Louisville, on Wednesday, Kentucky loses a valuable citizen, the Republican party a loyal adherent, the business world a man of probity, enterprise and success.

CHURCH AND PRESS

TO WAR ON TUBERCULOSIS

Both Asked to Aid in the Campaign Conducted to Get Rid of Plague

The National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis has planned a tuberculosis Sunday for April the 24th. They are asking that in every church in the United States a sermon or lecture on this important subject be delivered that day. The Association has prepared to supply every local association in the country with material to be given to the various ministers and others from which to prepare such sermons or lectures.

The Kentucky Association has its headquarters in Louisville and an application to Miss Harriet E. Anderson, acting secretary, 215 East Walnut street, Louisville, Ky., will bring such literature. Mr. C. L. Adler, president of the Association, earnestly requests that all ministers in the State of Kentucky shall join in this national movement on April 24th.

Kentucky badly needs the preaching of the gospel of education on this subject. The disease can be eradicated, and eradicated only by cleanliness, healthful living and the knowledge of the means by which it is spread. Kentucky is suffering more from the disease than all but two or three states of the Union. She is ignorant of her condition and, if we are to judge by the acts of the recent Legislature, unwilling to take the necessary steps to better it. Public agitation and education alone can help us. Will the newspapers of Kentucky bring this matter to the attention of every minister in the State.

Bishop Nelson of Albany says:

"Having labored with some success to point out the danger (of the disease), we are now confident that the cure of this disease depends upon improvement in conditions of personal and social life. Whatever the churches may be able to do along this line will be a double contribution to physical and spiritual betterment, and I should think that all would wish to have a share in such an enterprise."

There is no constitutional objection to the joining of the press and church in any great movement for the advancement of the health or morals of the people, and in this movement the Kentucky Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis calls particularly on the press and church to aid.

The Era of Haste.

Everybody's runnin'—runnin' right an' day;
Doesn't seem to be no chance for sittin' down to play;
Runnin' all the while an' a runnin' after wealth;
Runnin' off to Europe in the hope o' findin' health;
Runnin' for policemen an' a runnin' for the car—
It really ails surprisin' if we don't know where we are,
Ain't no time for restin' an' there ain't no time for fun,
Everybody's got to keep a-goin' on the run.

It wouldn't much astonish me if I should find, some day,
This earth had caught the fever an' completely broke away;
An' started in to run amuck among the distant stars
An' scarin' all the senses out o' people up in Mars.
Let's settle down more quiet in the country an' the town,
Before we all discover that we're totally run down.
I'm weary of the hustlin', bustlin', rustlin' modern style!
Suppose we stop this runnin' an' let 'em walk a little while.

Frank Breiner has sold his beautiful 80 acre farm, a mile and a half from Paola, to Wm. Lock, of Barboursville, Ky. It is one of the most desirable small farms in the country, having a 10-room house, modern throughout, with wind mill, two natural gas wells, fruit, and surroundings all that can be desired in a country home. The price paid was $12,000.

G. H. Wilson, a son-in-law of Mr. Lock, who is an Attorney of Cleveland, Ohio, accompanied him and is here with a view of locating in Paola. Mr. Lock will get possession and move here with his wife about the 1st of May. Mr. Breiner has not yet definitely determined if he will remain in this vicinity.—Miami Republican, Paola, Kans., Apr. 8.

Dogs Fight.

The Mountain Echo, of April 23, 1875, says: "A big dog fight near Bridgeport last Saturday night. Watch Tinsley disabled; Growler Wilson badly damaged; Ned Edwards killed and left on the ground; Bowler King bit on the shoulder; Joe Hicks past going; Blue Head Doan taken on a visit and not in the fight; Jake Fox unhurt; Nig Wilson not there; Roy Gibson still able to bark; Woods McDaniel and John X. Blucher Cotton, and Peter Faulner, and Jake Horn still occupy their old places in and around the corners, on the benches and before the fire; Ponder Bain too little to be bitten. A great many country dogs came in to engage in this fight which proved to be very calamitous and destructive. Judge H. C. Edwards says: 'It was one of the noisiest dog fights he ever witnessed, and hopes another will never be fought on his premises.'"

COST OF LIVING CRUSADE IN 1804

Faded Old Paper Shows People Kicked on High Price of Whisky.

Butler, Pa., April 1.—Records, yellow with a century's age, have been unearthed in the office of Clerk of Courts Robert M. McFarland, which showed that a high cost of living crusade was in progress as early as 1804. A document filed with Judge Moor in that year signed by one hundred citizens petitioning the court to "set a stipulated price on provisions for man and horse, and on liquors in the taverns of the country."

The petitioners prayed for redress and asserted: "It is the consensus of opinion that twenty-five cents for a meal of vituals and twelve-cents for a half pint of whisky is an extortion, as whisky has been purchased for forty cents a gallon, pork from three to four cents a pound, and flour $2 per hundred weight."

The records give no evidence as to whether the prayer, which was lead by Michael Martin, was ever answered.

CLEAR THE TRACK.

The Outlook, published at Monticello, with the name of J. W. Simpson floating at the mast head, says that "It is currently reported that Caleb Powers' best friends are urging him to get out of the race for Congress, and it is openly asserted that if he will heed their counsel, he will not be a candidate."

It is funny what "current reports" can be hatched up among the Edwards supporters. If there is a man in the District who is not an outspoken and avowed supporter of D. C. Edwards who has ever said, or even thought that Caleb Powers should get out of the race for Congress, we have got to hear of him.

Why, pray, should Caleb Powers get out of the race? He is the only announced candidate for the nomination, and from present indications there will be no other candidate announced. Then why should he get out and leave the field with another candidate at all in the race?

Such talk is silly and shows upon its face that it is only the wish of one of the hangers-on of the Edwards crowd who wishes Mr. Powers to quit the race and allow Mr. Edwards to then come out and announce himself a candidate and walk into office again without opposition.

But such will not be the case this time. Caleb Powers will be before the people, because the people demand that he make this race and allow them an opportunity to express their confidence in him by voting for him for Congress and thus vindicate Powers as an innocent man, and at the same time vindicate the action of Governor Willson in pardoning him, because he did so saying that he was innocent, and lastly vindicate the great Republican Party of Kentucky that has stood for the past ten years accused by the Goelet party of being guilty of the murder of Senator Goelet.

No Republican who loves the party, and loves the good name that every man should honor, can afford to refuse to lend them help by voting for Powers, and thus vindicating all the claims that party have made concerning that atrocious crime.

If the Outlook had not misconstrued that "current report" to suit his own wishes, he would have said that the friends of Mr. Powers were urging that he be given a clear field without opposition from any source in his own party, that the wish of the people might be gratified and the party vindicated by his election. But in the event some one else should venture to enter the race against him, they will be given a crushing defeat, and the vindication will be all the more distinct and telling upon the outside world. The people have decided to elect Caleb Powers and do not propose to be thwarted in their desires.

A FASELESS RUMOR AND SOME POSITIVE FACTS.

The rumor that, for a short time, connected Judge Faulkner's name with the Judgeship of the newly created Knox-Whitley District can, surely, have had no real foundation. Judge Faulkner was, just a few months ago, defeated for the Circuit Judgeship of the District, of which Knox, at that time, formed part. Knox is Judge Faulkner's home county. Yet, here, in his own home county, Mr. Faulkner was overwhelmingly beaten by Judge Lewis, a resident of Laurel.

Gov. Willson has, it is safe to assume, too much respect for popular feeling to appoint to the Bench a man, so recently and so pronouncedly rejected by the people of Knox. The Governor is, we take it for granted, a firm believer in the doctrine—Vox Populi, Vox Dei.

The Hon. F. D. Simpson is the choice of the now District's voters for Circuit Judge. The powers are, in overwhelming numbers, for him. The Governor of Kentucky has never made an appointment, that will give greater satisfaction, than that sure to greet Judge Simpson's elevation. No Governor has ever failed to make a selection, whose refusal was certain to evoke dissatisfaction, more widespread and profound, than that which would follow Judge Simpson's temporary rejection.

The Governor has wisely waited long enough to ascertain public sentiment in reference to this appointment. Having ascertained it, unshakably, there is now every reason to look for an early carrying out of the public will. Public interests demand an early appointment. Gov. Willson is, surely, cognizant of the urgency of the situation. Too mindful is he of the people's needs, too solicitous for the administration of justice, to suffer doubt and uncertainty to prevail any longer. The early appointment of the Hon. F. D. Simpson, called for by the Bar and by the People, will relieve the tension and anxiety now taking hold of the District. It will add besides, another title to Gov. Willson's claims on the gratitude of Kentucky's stalwart Mountain population. It will be a credit, notable and enduring, to the Republican party, whose banner Augustus E. Willson, so honorably carried to victory in 1907, Knox and Whitley playing gallant part in that memorable triumph.

A "Bill Bailey" Joke.

An actor talked sadly of Will Cannon, author of "Bill Bailey" and "Goo-goo Eyes," who died in poverty last month in Michigan.

"Poor Bill," he said, "was too happy-go-lucky to save; but, then, he didn't get out of his songs the profit that a good business man would have got. Bill was too flighty to do much business."

"One April Fool day in Shawmut he and I entered a barber's to be shaved. The shop was empty. The barber had slipped out somewhere. 'Well, have some fun,' said Bill, and, throwing off his coat and hat, he drew on a white jacket."

"As old gentleman came in. 'Shave, sir?' Bill asked politely."

"Yes, please, close."

"Bill lathered him and rubbed the lather in with his fingers. Then he lathered him again, and, going to the rack, put on his coat and hat, lit a cigar and calmly started out."

"Here," said the old man, sitting up in the chair, 'aren't you going to shave me?'"

"Oh, no, sir," said Bill, with a look of surprise. "We only lather here, sir. They shave four doors below."

WHAT SHE WANTED.

A beautiful young bride entered a corner grocery one morning and said: "Have you got any jackpots, Mr. Sands?"

"No, ma'am," Sands answered, and he hid a smile behind his hand. "I've got tenpins and coffee pots, but jackpots I don't stock."

"Oh, dear!" said the bride. A frown wrinkled her smooth and beautiful brow. "I'm so sorry! You see, Mr. Sands, my husband's mother used to cook for him, and nearly every night he talks in his sleep about a jackpot. So I thought I'd get one for, since he mentions it so often, he must be used to it. Could you tell me, Mr. Sands, what they cook in jackpots?"

"Greens, ma'am," was the quick answer.—[Ex.]

THE TRUTH

THE WHOLE TRUTH; NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH.

Men worship Truth, honor deeds and lives which proclaim Truth. Men dread falsehood and abhor the makers and utterers of falsehood. "The Lord is good," declares the Prophet David, "His mercy is everlasting, and His truth endureth to all generations." Truth is the immovable basis, the everlasting rock on which the happiness of human kind abides and rests. Without it, anarchy, chaos, destruction and dissolution. With it, peace, plenty, progress, prosperity, permanency. No higher praise than this may be, of any man, proclaimed; "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path."

For Truth, men there have been, in all ages; men there are, fortunately to-day, ready to sacrifice health, wealth, life itself. Truth is tyranny's foe. From prison wall, from blood stained scaffold, truth announces its purpose high, its resolve unconquerable to bless mankind, and begen Heaven with souls, redeemed and gladdened by its light. Not a prisoner, that tyrant ruler, mob, or clique burden with chains, but is an Apostle of truth.

The highest, best and most salutary human expression of truth is the American Constitution. That noble manifestation of truth rests on the basic rock, inscribed, on the one side; "Raised, in everlasting devotion to the free ballot of free citizens." On the other; "Put in place, to testify faith eternal in the right of every citizen, to have his vote counted as cast."

For devotion to the free ballot, for faith in the right of every citizen to have his ballot counted as cast, Caleb Powers was robbed of the office of Secretary of State of Kentucky, to which his fellow citizens had undoubtedly elected him; and to that colossal fraud and injustice, visited upon him by a conscienceless oligarchy, was added the unspeakable outrage of more than eight years of life in a dungeon. How often, in prison's gloomy retreat, must have occurred to this patient sufferer, for Kentucky's rights and to this fearless assertor of Kentuckian freedom, the thought:

Once long and long ago I knew delight,
God gave my spirit wings and a glad voice,
I was a bird that sang at dawn and noon,
That sang at starry eve and night;
Sang at the sun's great golden doors and
Sung in the white garden of the moon;
That sang and soared beyond the dusty world,
Once, long ago and long ago, I did rejoice.
But now I am a stone that falls and falls,
A prisoner.

Not one Republican in the Eleventh District but knew and acknowledged that Mr. Powers, in prison, stood for Truth and for Freedom. Against him were arrayed Falsehood black, and Deputism, hideous and implacable. In his case, Truth and Freedom finally triumphed. They never fail, in any case, to triumph. But the triumph cost him more than eight years of life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness.

THE ELEVENTH DISTRICT GRATEFUL TO MR. POWERS.

Desires of emphasising, by a regular and constitutional expression of opinion, their devotion to that selfsame free ballot and fair count, for which Mr. Powers so long suffered; resolved to register a lasting condemnation of the methods of cruel repression, employed to destroy this champion of free and fair elections, Kentuckians in the Eleventh District have, in overwhelming majority resolved to send Mr. Powers to Congress, there to typify in his person and voice, by vote and speech his fellow Mountaineers' love of civic freedom and fair dealing between man and man. Americans have at all times, honored the brave and the self denying. They made George Washington President; Abraham Lincoln their first, sent to Congress, then to the White House; Grant they put at the head of their battling legions, and, then invested with the Chief Magistracy of the very Nation his sword had saved from disunion and destruction. Kentuckians have, time and again, sent soldiers and statesmen, who had first achieved distinction in local and State arenas, to both Houses of Congress. A grateful people ever rejoice to honor faithful, fearless servants.

Any crime in an American's seeking the honors and responsibilities of civic and political service? Hear the grand old Englishman, Dr. Samuel Johnson:

"Exert your talents and distinguish yourself, and don't think of retiring from the world until the world will be sorry that you retired. I hate a fellow whom pride or cowardice or laziness drives into a corner and who does nothing when he is there but sit and growl. Let him come out."

Never putting himself unduly forward, Lincoln, the greatest of Kentuckians never underestimated himself. He went to Congress, because he felt himself fitted for the place. He would have gone, and struggled strenuously to go to the United States Senate, because he believed himself better equipped than his distinguished opponent, Stephen A. Douglas. A skilful Democratic Gerrymander kept him out of the Senate; an ungerrymandered free ballot had previously sent him to the National House of Representatives, that same House to which the ballots of the Eleventh District shall send his fellow Kentuckian, his follower, his disciple, his political descendant the Honorable Caleb Powers.

WHAT FALSEHOOD HAS DONE AND PROPOSES TO DO TO MR. POWERS.

It was falsehood that consigned Caleb Powers to prison, and for more than eight years kept him there. Falsehood would now keep him out of Congress. The greedy, self-seeking, so called Republicans, who demand that Caleb Powers be kept out of Congress, are busy flattering the vial courtisan, Falsehood, inducing her to declare:

First, that Powers is a grafter.

Second, that Powers came out of prison a rich man.

Third, that Powers is a plunderer of the poor.

Fourth, that he desires to go to Washington, to further swell an already full and bursting purse.

Is Powers a Grafter? He took, in boyhood's tender years, the poor man's side in Kentucky politics. It was not, then fashionable to be a Republican in Kentucky. Republicans of any kind were few enough. Rich Republicans might be, in this State, counted on the fingers of one hand. Did young Powers, for a moment, think of following the leaders, entering the party that had employments and emoluments to bestow? Poor, like Abraham Lincoln, in earthly possessions; but, like Lincoln, rich in ambition and resolution he took from the start, that side in Kentucky politics, inconspicuous for wealth. The Republican party had been, for more than thirty years, in the dreary shades of opposition.

SACRIFICES OF POWERS AND THE POWERS FAMILY.

Nothing had the Republican party to offer its most active adherents, but Hope. With Republican Hope animating his bosom, stimulating his purpose, blessing his efforts, Caleb Powers entered political life in Kentucky, fearlessly espousing the cause of poverty stricken Republicanism. Poor in purse, but rich in hope, young Powers was trusted by friends, neighbors and kinsmen. The recipient at an early age of local honors, he was, while still a very young man, nominated by his party for Secretary of State of Kentucky. Was this nomination obtained by lavish use of gold? Neither silver nor gold had the ambitious young Powers, to give, even for so coveted an honor. Granted was that honor by fellow Republicans, because they respected and cherished his wealth of unselfish, fearless young, Kentuckian manhood, his rich possession of talent, truth, fortitude and self denial.

Is Powers a Grafter? By the book we speak, in declaring that in his fight for freedom, honor and vindication, Mr. Powers ruined himself and his immediate family financially. His first trial, on the charge of being a party to the killing of Goebel, took place in July, 1900; the second, in October, 1901. He was without money to make a defense in the second trial. His father, Amos Powers, gave, consequently, a mortgage to Joseph Sampson on 200 acres of his farm on Brush Creek, Knox County. This mortgage yielded $600 for the defense of Caleb Powers. Every cent of this sum was spent in that defense. Of the 200 acres, thus mortgaged, 164 were enriched with a seven-foot deposit of coal. This land, so rich in its coal deposit, Amos Powers was forced to sell at $10 per acre, to keep it from foreclosure. And, with all Amos Powers' efforts to save it, the land eventually passed out of his family's hands. The property is, to day, worth $100.00 per acre. A railroad now runs up Brush Creek, through what was once the Powers' farm. There is a mine in operation on the farm that Amos Powers owned and from that operation the owner gets the munificent royalty of $1000 per month. Great financiers the Powerses? A wonderful grafting lot! Had Caleb Powers' father held this land, his children were now independently rich. Why did not Caleb Powers, out of the enormous (1) sums he received, while in prison, save his father's land? Grateful, beyond measure, is Mr. Powers to his fellow Kentuckians, Republicans and Democrats alike, who contributed to his defense. But the money so contributed was given, not for the redemption of Amos Powers' farm, but for Caleb Powers' defense, and was so applied, to the last cent. The mortgage of Amos Powers' farm is of record in the office of the Clerk of Knox County, Mortgage Book "F," page 323. The property was sold to Dr. S. Bennett, and the deed is of record in the Knox County Clerk's office. Deed Book No. 7, page 112.

Amos Powers having died in 1903, five years before his son's liberation from prison, Caleb Powers sold, December 15, 1904, his undivided interest in his father's farm, except 31 acres, to Dr. Samuel Bennett, receiving therefor, $900. The deed, covering this transaction, is of record in the office of the Clerk, Knox County, in Deed Book 9, page 258.

Powers used this money in his fight for freedom. Mr. Powers needing more money, sold the interest he still held in the 31 acres, accepted in a former deal. Mr. Powers got $750 for this and used it in his defense. (See Deed Book 10, page 603, County Clerk's office, Knox County.) Owner of a home at Barbourville, where he had resided before his wife's death, Mr. Powers attaching, very naturally, inestimable value to this dwelling place, of so many tender and touching memories, held on persistently to its ownership till literally forced to part from an abode so prized.

To part from it, he was however, driven. Having first, while in prison mortgaged it—the mortgage is of record in the Clerk's office of Knox County—Powers was after his release, obliged to sell it, and did sell it, November 30th, 1908, paying off, with the proceeds, the mortgage upon it.

WHAT GOVERNOR WILLSON FOUND OUT.

Than the Honorable Augustus E. Willson, no more painstaking and conscientious Governor has Kentucky ever had. Before granting him pardon, Governor Willson made thorough inquiry into the charge that Mr. Caleb Powers had, while in jail, amassed very great wealth. By that inquiry, made by Governor Willson himself, the following facts were brought out:

First, that the several trials of Caleb Powers had cost the latter and his friends the sum of $50,000.

Second, that Mr. Powers' last trial had cost him and his friends from $13,000 to $15,000.

Third, that in his last trial, Mr. Powers had subpoenaed 400 witnesses, at an average cost, conservatively estimated, of $20 per witness; 400 witnesses, at that figures, cost $8,000.00. The individual cost of some witnesses ran, however, as high as $75. The stengrapher's fees in Mr. Powers' last trial, totaled a sum of between $800 and $900. The Attorneys' fees amounted, besides, to several thousand dollars.

Fourth, That Mr. Powers was worth, when his troubles began, about $1,500; that he subsequently realized about $1,000 from the sale of a pamphlet, reciting his argument in self defense before the jury; and something less than $1,000 from the sale of his book, called "MY OWN STORY."

Fifth, That Mr. Powers was in debt, just before his release for more than $4,400.

Mr. Powers has, since his release, paid $1,000 of the $4,000, due E. M. Bonham, of 152 East Market Street York, Pennsylvania for moneys advanced him to aid in his defense.

He is, moreover indebted to Mr. Charles Finley, in the sum of $795 with interest, and to the First National Bank, Barbourville, Kentucky, in the sum of $500.

IS CALEB POWERS A GRAFTER?

If it be note and sign of a grafter to sell home, to part from ancestral estate, to be forced to borrow funds for the defense of life and honor, then Caleb Powers is undoubtedly, a grafter. But just such grafters have been all the great Kentuckians history cherishes and mankind worships. Daniel Boone, Henry Clay, Abraham Lincoln and William O. Bradley.

In grafters such as these Kentucky and Kentuckians glory. Long, illustrious, unexcelled, the line of such grafters, from Daniel Boone to Caleb Powers!

Turning to that gallant Republican newspaper, the London Sentinel, we find Mr. Powers' own defense against other charges levelled at him, by Mr. Edwards' chief organ, The Louisville Post, virulent assailant, also, of President Taft and Senator Bradley. Whatever the Knotty Post, so long published by funds supplied from the coffers of John Whallen, of the infamous Buckingham Theatre, sings, the Eleventh district pennywhistle presses, such as the London Echo, the Somerset Herald, and the Monticello Outlook chorus, in laughable attempts at harmony. We read in the Sentinel, of March 10, inst.

"Caleb Powers was reached by telephone on the night of March 4, at Oneida, Clay County, where he addressed 600 people in the interest of his candidacy for Congress, and was informed that the Mountain Echo, a paper edited by a Democrat, and largely owned by Congressman Edwards, had accused him with having charged the Republicans of Johnson County $500 for a political speech last fall.

Powers' reply was: "That is a lie" and added: "I have been making political speeches for the Republican party, for over twenty years, and never received a cent in my life for a political speech, and never had even my expenses paid except on one occasion.

"Last fall, the Republican State Campaign Committee asked me if I could go to Booneville, and Salsersville and Liberty (close Senatorial districts) and make a political speech in behalf of the Republican Senatorial nominees. I replied that I was not prepared, on short notice, to make such a political speech as would do justice to the cause, or credit to myself; but that I could go and deliver my lecture, if it was thought that that would do any good. They said for me to go. I did this. I paid my own railroad fare, my own livery and hotel bills, and delivered my lecture at Booneville and did not receive a cent for it. I paid all my expenses and was out my labor and my time and did not receive a copper for my lecture at Liberty. I was paid my expenses (and no more) for my lecture at Salsersville. I had a tremendous crowd of people at Salsersville. The Republican nominees for county offices in Johnson County, hearing of this, applied to me to come to Johnson County and make a political speech in behalf of the county nominees. I replied that I was not prepared to do that and besides did not feel able physically to travel some 200 miles, the way I would have to go, (going and coming), to do it. I learned over the phone, during the talk, that these Republican nominees were opposed, not by a Democratic ticket, but by an Independent ticket, composed largely, if not almost entirely by Republicans. I knew, of course, that the normal Republican majority in Johnson County over the Democrats was over 1,000 votes.

"Several hours later these same people, who had first called me over the telephone, called me again, and said they would pay me $500 if I would come to Paintsville and deliver my lecture. I told them that I would do it, and I did do it. They paid $500 for the lecture, and not for a political speech. I have been lecturing for pay all over the country; and if the people of Johnson County, whether in a political race or out of it, insist on my going and want to pay me $500 for another lecture, I will try to find time to accommodate them."

"What about the other charge made against you in this week's Echo that you got rich in jail levying tribute on your friends, and that you have been buying up lands on forced sales by sheriffs for taxes, particularly in Laurel and Clay Counties?" was asked Mr. Powers.

"Both these charges are base, meanly and knowingly false, and before this campaign is over (if there is to be a campaign) I will make these slanderers wish that they had never started that vile and infamous falsehood," replied Mr. Powers.

"Why don't they produce some proof of these accusations, and not ask the people to believe their unsupported lies," he continued.

"They have no proof to produce, but at the proper time, and when I can get to it, the people shall have abundant proof of my entire innocence of both charges.

"I never bought or owned a foot of land in Laurel or Clay County in my life, and instead of getting rich in jail, I broke myself up and my father up who mortgaged his farm to help me, and besides this I was a burden to other relatives and friends. I have abundant proof to support all I have said."

No scrutiny does Mr. Powers fear. Tried as by fire, he has proved true to friend and neighbor, to friends and family; true to every obligation and to every trust; true, in one word, to grand old Kentucky. A Kentuckian, to the manor born; a Kentuckian without fear and without reproach, he meets his fellow citizens with countenance unabashed and with eye undimmed. For the Right he has suffered, for the Right he is now willing to serve. Courage is an attribute of Kentuckians, especially those of Mr. Powers' character and caliber, for, to Kentuckians is addressed, and, by Kentuckians borne in mind, the word of the Good Book:

"Be strong and be of good courage, fear not, nor be afraid of them; for the Lord thy God, he it is that doth go with thee, he will not fail thee nor forsake thee."

Farmers should eat more oatmeal.

Although the farmer of today is able to buy almost anything he wants to wear or eat he isn't paying enough attention to food values when it comes to his own table.

If he has been watching the extensive researches and experiments on the question of the best human food for muscle and brain he will heed the advice from all sides to "eat more Quaker Oats."

Quaker Oats is mentioned because it is recognized in this country and Europe as the best of all oatmeals. Feeding farm hands on Quaker Oats means getting more work out of them than if you feed them on anything else.

For hot climates it is packed in hermetically sealed tins; regular size package 10c.

This is all that has to be paid. There are no Taxes until after delivery of Deed; no interest; no commission; nothing but the $20. an acre, and 39 months in which to complete your payments. All about our lands to-day are located enormously profitable Vegetable Gardens and Orange Groves.

Two Great Trunk Line Railroads Pass Directly Through These Lands.

Price. The price of this land is $20. per acre, and in one year you can pay for the land on a single crop. We want customers quick, and have made a price that will get them.

Terms. You can buy for cash, or upon the easy payment plan of 50 cents per acre down and 50 cents per acre each month until the land is paid for.

Titles. Our Titles are guaranteed to give you the most complete satisfaction, reaching all the way back to the National Grant.

Climate. The Climate is Ideal, the average temperature for the entire year being about 73 degrees. The air is tempered by the breezes from the Atlantic Ocean and Gulf of Mexico.

Crops. Crops never fail here, and you can raise as many as four crops in a single year. They yield when the market is highest, and you have the first source of supply.

Soil. The land we will allot to you is rich and fertile. You do not have to spend large sums of money clearing or getting ready for the plow, while all of this land needs but little work to make it free from scruboak and stumps. The character of soil is ideal for Orange land and Fruit Groves. It readily produces because of its fertility with which nature has endowed it. The soil has not been washed into the rivers and lakes by great floods. It is exactly what we claim it to be, and will raise the same manner of crops as the fields now in cultivation elsewhere of our lands.

Transportation. The main lines of Florida's two great Trunk Line Railroads, the Seaboard Air Line and the Atlantic Coast Line pass entirely through our land, with frequent stations along their lines.

Markets. The Northern markets eagerly seek our products, for this region is famous wherever fruits and vegetables are sold. Cash buyers are located with their packing and storage houses along side this land, ready to receive your crops without worry or trouble to you, and pay you cash for your produce as soon as it is ready for market.

Our Guarantee. To any purchaser of a 10, 20, or 40-acre tract of our lands, lying near Ocala, Florida, either in Marion, Sumpter or Lake counties, (all of which adjoin,) we guarantee to refund all moneys, whether paid upon the cash or easy terms payment plan to such purchaser, if after a personal examination of our land allotted him, within 90 days, if he finds such land to be other than we have represented it to be, as fully set forth in our bond and contract. This fully and unequivocally means that we will refund every dollar that he has paid to us.

Location of Our Colony Lands. Our land is located South of Ocala, Florida, mostly in Marion, Sumpter or Lake counties, but extending over into Sumpter and Lake Counties. It lies directly upon the Atlantic Coast Line and the Seaboard Air Line Railroads. All about this tract of land are located the Fruit packing and Storage Warehouses, where the fruit brought from the North, East and West command prices for the Fruit and Vegetables right on the ground. This land is only 30 hours run from New York, in 40 hours from Chicago. It is located upon the highest and healthiest land in the State, and is in the heart of the famous fruit and garden truck district of Florida. There are beautiful lakes through this section and yet not an acre of swamp or waste land in our entire tract.

OAKLAND PIANOS

Our aim is the production of a popular, up-to-date, moderate price piano, possessing that quality of tone, worth, value and durability heretofore not found in piano selling at comparative prices.
The officers of the Oakland Piano Co. are practical piano men whose life-long experience in the building and marketing of pianos is concentrated in the development of those essential quality features that attract the careful buyer.
Our policy is to build one style of one and one grade of piano, thereby insuring our output, insuring the cost of production to the minimum, and permitting us to offer quality and value to the consumer at a price that is not obtainable in any other way.
In the world, having an output of 500 pianos annually, we are producing in the world the greatest constructed through, solid, efficient, style, workmanship and in durability, we claim the "Oakland" piano has no equal at the price.
If you want direct benefit for the "Oakland" piano, write direct to us for catalogue and special introductory price.

NEW IDEA MANURE SPREADER FARMERS, ATTENTION!

This Manure Spreader is different from all others. Do not buy without first investigating the merits of the same. The exclusive features are found on other machines. Drawn with coupling pole; without a clutch or cog wheel. Can be hinged in loading the same as a farm wagon. Guaranteed to pulverize all manure (police the drive chains).

This machine is built on a common sense principle of a farm wagon—hence is the simplest, most durable, lightest draft, lowest down (hence easy to load into) spreader on the market. Backed by ten years' experience, put in experiment. Ask for catalogue X.
